

Introduction to the Plumbing Profession

Course Planning Tools

Module 02101

02101

Introduction to the Plumbing Profession

Plumbing

Overview

Plumbers protect the health, safety, and comfort of people. Training and critical-thinking skills are essential to being a good plumber. A professional work ethic and good safety habits go a long way toward adding to the success of a plumber.

Learning Objective 1

Successful completion of this module prepares trainees to:

Describe the plumbing profession.

- a. Describe the history of the plumbing profession.
- b. Describe the plumbing profession today.

Learning Objective 2

Successful completion of this module prepares trainees to:

Identify the responsibilities of a person working in the plumbing industry.

- a. State the personal characteristics of a professional.
- b. Identify career opportunities in plumbing.

Performance Tasks

This is a knowledge-based module; there are no Performance Tasks.

Recommended Teaching Time: 5 hours

Classroom Equipment and Materials

- Whiteboard and markers

- Pencils and paper
- PowerPoint® Presentations for Module 02101
- A variety of standard marker sizes
- Poster board
- Flip chart
- LCD projector and screen
- Computer with Internet access
- Module Review answer key
- Module Examinations